Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 29 April 2003.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination

The request filed on April 29, 2002 for Continued Examination (RCE) under 37 CFR 1.114 based on parent Application No. 09/885,471 is acceptable and an RCE has been established. An action on the RCE follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 8-11, and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Brinkman et al.

Brinkman teaches pulsed laser deposition of a solid target that comprises magnesium diboride powder that has been sintered into a solid pellet (paragraph bridging pages 1 and 2). A pulsed laser is used to eject magnesium diboride from this a layer of magnesium diboride is grown on the surface of a substrate (page 2, 3rd paragraph). The chamber pressure and layer thickness are within the applicant's claimed ranges (2nd page, 4th paragraph). It is the position of the examiner that as the same deposition steps are used in the claimed invention and the reference, the lattice constants being matched (applicant's claim 9) is inherent to the process taught by the reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brinkman et al., as applied to claim 8 above, and further in view of Koura (US 4,975,417).

Brinkman teaches the limitations of claim 1, but fails to explicitly teach using substrates besides silicon. However, Koura teaches that silica is commonly used as the substrate on which a superconductor is formed (column 2, lines 50-55). Therefore, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to utilize a silica substrate in the process taught by Brinkman, as Koura teaches that silica is commonly used as a substrate for superconductors and Brinkman teaches the deposited film is used as a superconductor.
